

Utah Leadership Conference 2018

Richfield & Logan, Utah

About the Conference:

The Utah Leadership Conference is a fun-filled, information packed conference. ULC is sure to send students home with leadership skills to last a lifetime. Students attend various workshops and general sessions with some of the best presenters in the country. This is not a conference you want to miss!

The 2018 main presenter is Patrick Grady. Patrick is a dynamic presenter and is sure to bring a fun and exciting twist to leadership. Patrick is from Wahoo, Florida and is a former agricultural educator, FFA Advisor, and FFA State Officer who now travels full-time throughout North America inspiring and encouraging individuals to do their best in all their endeavors.

Advanced and Greenhand Tracks:

ULC offers two separate tracks that take place at the same time. The Advanced Track is geared toward Juniors and Seniors, or advanced level FFA members. The Greenhand Track is geared toward middle school, Freshman, and Sophomores, or entry level FFA members. Our facilitators and workshop presenters guide their activities to best suit the group they are working with. Members are divided into small groups of 15-20 students in their track allowing them the opportunity to mingle with FFA members close to their own age from across the state.

Dates & Locations:

ULC I—November 30: Richfield, Sevier County Fairgrounds

ULC II—December 7: Cache County Event Center

ULC III—December 8: Cache County Event Center

Cost & What's Included:

Traditional Dues Student: $40

Affiliated Dues Student: $38

Advisor: $10

Registration includes lunch, snacks, and beverages